

Comquest Global, LLC
Statement of CPNI Procedures and Compliance

Comquest Global, LLC (“Comquest Global”) does not provide carrier telecommunications services. It has no end-user customers. Consequently, Comquest Global does not have a “subscribers” relationship with its customers and does not send “bills” to end-user customers. The Company’s basic services are as follows:.

We design networks for our customers with complete drawings and specifications of all the equipment used in our design.

We do not own telecommunications equipment at all.

We also act as middlemen/agents between customers and carriers and/or between carriers and carriers.

Comquest Global safeguards from improper use or disclosure by employees the information that Comquest Global obtains in providing its services to customers and carriers. Access to this information is limited to certain employees, and those employees are trained to protect this information from improper use or disclosure, and informed that failure to protect that information will result in appropriate disciplinary action. In addition, Comquest Global has programs and procedures in place to discover and protect against attempts by third parties to gain unauthorized access to Comquest Global computers and records. In the event of unauthorized CPNI access, Comquest Global will notify the requisite law enforcement agencies, and the customer when possible.

Comquest Global has not received customer or carrier complaints in the past year concerning the unauthorized release of CPNI.