

Many spam advertising faxes come without contact information from the source. There ought to be no blocking of fax source information. Further, advertisers use services that hide in the shadows. A service providing an advertiser with phone lists or providing the service directly ought to be required to provide their contact information on the fax, in addition to a removal number. Without providing source contact information, all fax advertising is suspicious and prone to corrupt business practices. No anonymity allowed!!