4.15.11

Note on ECFS malfunction.

I tried this morning to submit in docket 11-49 three exhibits to the above noted entities "further comments" submitted on 4.11.11. I first used Firefox browser, and then Google Chrome browser. ECFS did not work on either.

- On Firefox, after uploading the exhibits and entering the required cover sheet data, and hitting "continue" the ECFS system kicked me back to the blank cover page. It did this several times.

- On Chrome, after doing the above, the ECFS system would not react when I hit "continue" (the browser showed processing attempt, but it did not take me to the confirm submission page).

I have used these browsers to submit filings on EFCS in the past without problem (except I believe on occasion, where I did not know the cause). I use a Mac and use these browsers for certain features not in Explorer.

The FCC should, like most all commercial websites and web commerce, configure ECFS to be compatible with these commonly used browsers. To not do so prejudices persons who use them, including potentially by causing a filing that would have been on time, to be late by attempting it many times, and trying various common browsers until one works.
