

AT&T should not be allowed to acquire T-Mobile. This will be borderline monopolistic, and reduce all competition for GSM networks. T-Mobile has always been the network that you can get a good deal with, without compromising quality. They are the only one to offer a truly unlimited plan. Without T-Mobile, prices will increase, and there will be nowhere for customers to go, forcing them to pay these ridiculously high prices. Please do not let this deal go through.
