

AT&T should be allowed to buy tmobile for the simple reason that it would allow for sprint and verizon to pick up the compition and make at&t's network stronger and give the customers more opitions which is essentially what you want.