

Merging the US's only two GSM carriers will stop AT&T from strictly adhering to the standards which will allow interoperability between GSM phones/networks from international locations.