RE: In the Matter of Applications of AT&T Inc. and Deutsche Telekom AG for Consent to Assign or Transfer Control of Licenses and Authorizations (WT Docket No. 11-65).

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

Internet service providers are focusing on increasing speeds and broadening access to wireless services, and for good reason. Broadband is an indispensable technology needed for successful businesses and communities. Make no mistake, these are the issues that those of us in rural Idaho care about and will benefit from both in the near-term and in the years ahead. No other technology can help shape our state's economic situation, rural development and job creation like high-speed mobile Internet. This is why we ask the FCC to authorize the AT&T and T-Mobile merger plan.

As small business owners, my husband and I rely heavily on mobile communications to stay connected with our employees and colleagues. In our industry, we are out of the office doing business and meeting with clients regularly. Therefore, we understand the importance of having a strong wireless service provider and that includes the power of wireless Internet. In addition to the benefits we see directly for our business, we believe having wireless internet more broadly available in rural Idaho will also support a stronger rural economy for our state.

Today, AT&T and T-Mobile are attempting to make wireless Internet service not only better but also more available. We respectfully request that Chairman Genachowski and the Commissioners approve the pending merger. Your attention to these important topics and commitment to the public is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

John and Deby Infanger
