

I strongly disagree with the proposed AT&T and Tmobile merger.

I work at a place where 90 percent of the folks use Iphones and AT&t. Everyone of them crib about how bad the service is and also how terrible the customer service is etc.

Creating a corporate monster that will encompass 80 percent of the market at a time when the US is being increasingly corporatized is setting a bad precedent.

I wish to strongly disagree and complain against the proposed merger. It is insanity if this is allowed to proceed. Having competition is great and I wish the FCC will block this merger.
