

We as a company depend greatly on the high precision GPS. We have well over a million dollars invested in GPS equipment for our construction fleet. This plays a very important role in our construction activities from the bidding process, to the construction process. Any interference in the GPS signal would cause undue hardship on our operations, not to count the money we have invested in the GPS equipment.