

LightSquared's proposed system can interfere with GPS, and should not be approved.

I am an engineer who makes GPS-based products, and a private pilot. GPS is essential to our economy and safety, and (unfortunately) it can be compromised easily if not for the FCC's protection of the spectrum.

Please make sure GPS remains reliable.