

As many involved with aviation, I am very concerned about LightSquared's plans to operate in frequency bands adjacent to those allocated for GPS. As a safety of life service, any activities with the potential of causing interference to these vital navigation signals needs to be carefully evaluated. I would suggest the FCC be very circumspect before considering LightSquared's proposals.

Dennis Hannon, KB9PAZ
Amateur Operator, GROL
Instructor, Aviation Electronics
Southern Illinois University
Carbondale, IL