

GPS navigation is used by so many sectors. Why are you even considering LightSquared's proposal to use frequencies close enough to the GPS frequencies to cause interference? Please stop this nonsense. LightSquared needs to find other frequencies that do not effect GPS navigation and all of the infrastructure that has built up around it.