

I have also gotten some small charges from Verizon. When I asked for the info, (who were the calls placed to, time, date, etc.) I was told that they could not provide me with it. I asked, how do you expect me to pay for something you cannot justify. The answer was I made the calls. I said well maybe I did (but I doubt it) since I also use my cell to make any long distance call or toll calls. I told the young lady, that in the future I would not pay for something, that Verizon could not tell me who I called. They could not even tell me the day or time, the calls were placed. Looks like a scam to me.
