

As a corporate pilot I rely on GPS for many approaches into small airports and basic navigation. As a farmer we rely on it for field and yield mapping, spraying, and auto steering. Loss of a reliable signal would be very detrimental both for aviation and agriculture.