

I want to express my concern about available options for sending SMS. As of August 21, AT&T will only offer unlimited or pay-per-text plans, which does not offer an affordable plan for low or medium-sized SMS volumes. After a merger with T-Mobile, the offer of choices will likely decline, if AT&T is already minimizing their offered plans before a merger.