

I was trying to resolve a problem with telephone and internet company, Centry Link. I was given a long distance phone number, but I was not concerned I was given one before and I was never billed. This time in 7 years I was billed. It was probably because I told them since they told me they would not fix my problem I was going with another company for better services. I am asking for $6,75 the total of my long distance service.

I do not think I should be charged for customer services.

Thank You.

Angela Murry