

Every day Change.org members using the participatory open web win people powered campaigns for social change. In order for online organizing and political campaigns that go bottom up to succeed -- that enlist ordinary citizens to win change to continue we have to maintain the open internet and that's why Network Neutrality and competition mandates under Title II for wire-line and wireless communications are so important. The FCC must reclassify broadband under Title II and deny the anti competitive AT&T T Mobil merger and AT&T Qualcomm merger.
