

a question, should the FCC regulate wireless network names? How could they ever control them?

Freedom of speech?

Do you care what your kids see when they get connected on wireless? Wireless network names, that are visible on any cell phone, or computer, can be obscene.