

As I was listing to the news this morning and the conversation about who has a dog in this public fight about what has been going on over the net for years. I realized that I had a bone in the very public fight. I had a workers compensation claim in 1994 which put me in the very public watch group but I had no idea then that I was being watched over the net. And because I was not really using the computer then I had no idea that when the computer stopped working it was because of network management. And because of what my children were doing, I only know this now because of my recent fight with keeping my computer working I found that all of my documents and settings folders were stored on this very public User Hardware storage server somewhere on the net. Because someone thinks that they have a Dam Good Case against me because they keep sending these files back to any new hardware device that I purchase. And not only that I have found so many reasons to be good and pissed off. I really can not count the number of windows operating systems that I have purchased and never had the ability to operate fully because of just who I am and what I have been forced to find out about the policies applied to the systems that I have purchased over the years.

The racism and the discriminatory practices that I believed that have been lobbied against me without my knowledge. I wake up with this sense of rage that I am compelled to have a desire to scream! I can not tell you how many user profiles that have been deleted. And not I am only allowed to have this very public user profile and none of my documents and settings are on the computer that I had to purchase because ways have been found to store this very public desktop that I have no control over when I think that anyone should understand just how one should feel if they have to be treated differently than others who have to spend the same or more money to have the benefit of using the very tool that would keep one informed about this very public service that is being offered to keep informed.

Now when you have your documents and folders change to we see you then someone wants you to know that you are being watched. And that is when I started to research all of the text files that were being stored on my computer and when this user is always added to any new computer you purchase then I think that you know that you are being watched. Because no matter what you do this user has the power to take over ownership of your system. This Group IIS_IUSRS And this User has the power to takeover ownership and to control the computer. NT AUTHORITY\IUSR(S-1-5-17
No matter what you do you do not have the right to turn off windows updates and then the files just keep coming and no matter what you do after you re install or purchase a new computer someone has the right to disable it once the original warranty runs out.

I know who I am and apparently someone else believes that they know me too! I would not be so insensed if I did not know that they pulled out nothing to disable this very 10 year old iPod that was in my home that had all of these music files on it and it meant something to someone to disable that Comcast would come out to my home and put this signal booster on the house it self to be able to control this device. And I developed Cancer within 6 months, no I can no prove that it was the cause but I feel that the number of times that they could disable the device and once the device power down because of fault tolerance it would just power up and come back on it was crazy. I don't care because I recall back in the day before I tunes they wanted you to upload your music and because of this lon tape to Pc lots of music got on the net. Now it is the same old music that some one sees as new capital no matter if the artist is dead. THE ONLY DOG IN THIS FIGHT IS TO KEEP THE OWNERS IN CHARGE. And look it was not me on the computer in the 90's but it is me now and it was me paying for someone to destroy the devices then and now. But if I purchase some thing in the store one day and because I bring it home and put it on the next the next day does not mean that some on has the rights to take over ownership. And then denies the use of the very device that I purchase to work in the manner that it was sold to me to work.

I am just so pissed off that the last branded computer went back to the manufacture 3 times and each time because it was being remotely controlled it was not allowed to work. And I filed all of the complaint locally and through the government IC3 and I still have to pay for a computer that does not work the better business, consumer affairs no one can force them to turn it back on and if you want the rest of AMERICA TO GO THROUGH THIS DOG AND PONY SHOW eventually every one will know that they are not making a purchase. That they are paying for someone to mess over them and I wonder how that will go down when it is just more than me. And the want that things went down I know that once you put more people in the game they are not going to take it kindly that they are unable to connect with their elected official to complain! Below is my very public post and this will become a part of my public record to complain!

Who will except the responsibility for the loss of the public trust! I am truly tired of the ownership take over because you may have a few song on your computer system that do not have a traceable object code or even if back in the day your children were downloading the music before it became illegal to down load music. You have given the Network Authority the rights to disable your B.I.O.S. that's right just turn your computer system off. As to where the manufacture can not restore it because your computer is being remotely operated. So tell me once again why we are digging our selves in to a deeper whole with the people who actually know every thing about you when you sleep and when you wake up how much you spend in a day, or a week, or a month. And what you spend your money on because we have given up all rights to our private information because there are no and I mean no laws that govern the internet! This is the wild wild west to those who have the knowledge and are tracking people with out the person having to committing a crime. Because of the content certificates that they send to your computer that are from countries that are out side of the United States of America. You don't have to even surf the net out side of the country they send them to you and that way they get to do what ever they want to you. This has been the craziest thing that I have ever seen because no matter who you talk to or attempt to file a complaint with there is no oversight. So for years you could listen to music on the radio purchase a CD and make your own mix tape. And then if your could afford it you could go to a see the band play live at a concert. Now if you have the CD you have to question can you make a copy or if you find music on the internet just the way the Steve Jobs got I Tunes started we all up load our music with the Tape 2 Pc machine. Oh but now this is enough for some one to track your computer and perhaps turn your system off.

All I can say is there is no public interest in the NT Authority and Net Work Management. And what is being done in the name of NT Authority. They are not training Americans for jobs and every thing is a Secrete because as long as they know all of the information why would they share the information with any one else they just don't have too. Sad Day in American we are loosing our freedom! And we are loosing the right to work.
