

I was sent a new comcast cable box. The charge for the shipping of the box was $10.00. I was also charged an extra 50 cents for taxes on the shipping. Comcast resolved the issue and removed the extra 50 cents but I would guess it is illegal to charge taxes on a shipping charge. If they charge everyone an extra 50 cents for something that has nothing to do with broadcasting someone is getting an awful lot of money. Is this legal? Can they put these extra taxes on your bill? Who gets the money? How many shipping charges are added in a year? We could be talking about a whole lot of money! Is anyone looking into this?
