

First Financial continues to call one of our employees at the office during working hours. This takes up a lot of my work time & they should be fined. The employee they are trying to reach should be making this complaint, but he's not getting the calls because I screen these for him.