

As a long suffering San Diego Chargers fan, I truly hope the rules under which the NFL is allowed to operate are changed. San Diego residents, like the rest of the country, have economic issues to deal with that do not allow all of us to fork out over $600 to take our family to a game. We are also at the mercy of owners that are using the team as leverage against the citizens in order to have a stadium built for them at our expense. The owners of our local team benefit by not making games financially justifiable to the average parent, because they then get the benefit of claiming "the community does not support us". As fans the NFL is holding guns to our heads in order to empty our pockets, please remove their power to do so.
