

I've been a Charger fan since 1978. The blackout rule has never induced me to buy a ticket to a game that was blacked out. Currently, all it does is force me to find the blacked out game on the Internet, which is simple.

Also, I no longer live in San Diego, so out of town fans such as myself would welcome elimination of the rule.