

Thank you for your consideration for the millions of us who rely on the accuracy and dependability of the GPS system in our everyday lives. I use the system daily, both on the water and land and know of many who use it in the air as well. Continued focus on the reliability and integrity of the system is critical for both safety and efficiency as well as convenience.

Please continue to deny intrusions or compromises of the frequencies and bandwidth used by the GPS system.