

The need(?) for the high speed service should in no way jeprodise the SAFETY the GPS provides to its users, on land or on the water. The GPS offers much to the safety of boaters if or when an emergency arises and LIFE or DEATH are in the hands of the rescuer in so far as the speed of the assist or rescue is greatly sped up thru the use of this device. LIFE and SAFETY should be first and foremost.