

I past 4-6 month on my boat cruising the Gulf of Mexico, Florida straight and all Eastern sea cost of USA. I'm single handed on my sail boat and my GPS is the only way for me to navigate safely. The GPS provide precise location when sailing in shalow water and its the only possible way to control the auto-pilot. There is a lot of person like me that rely on GPS for a safe navigation.

Best regards

Claude Auclair