

I support your ruling to deny LightSquared's application for band space that would interfere with GPS service. I use my GPS portable unit to find my way around when hunting and fishing and to find my way back to my vehicle. Without it, I would be averse to exploring woods and water for fear of becoming lost. I also use a unit in my vehicle to get to places I am not familiar with. I have become very dependant on it for many things outdoors as well as in traveling.

Please protect the integrity of this valuable technology. I sure wish we would have had this technology when I was in Viet Nam. It would have made navigation much easier and much safer.
