

As a daily user of GPS in automobile and frequent marine GPS user, I laud the decision to reject LightSquared's petition to use band frequencies that may negatively impact GPS signals. While I support the intent to make broadband accessible to wider areas, this should not come at the expense of GPS functionality. I urge the continued constraints vs. LightSquared's proposal.