

Any GPS interference would endanger the lives of myself and my guests when boating in the Northwest.

These waters are very treacherous and fog is a constant threat.

Without reliable GPS signals anyone aboard our craft would be exposed to unnecessary and unforeseen danger.