

To FCC Commissioners Genachowski, Clyburn and McDowell:

I suggest that you withdraw your attempts to lift this ban. By doing so you would be taking another step toward killing democracy, give corporations more power when they already have too much, and most importantly, you would be acting in opposition to the very reason that you were created. I would advise you not to act in violation of the very purpose that you are meant to fulfill, for otherwise you will have no purpose that the American people are willing to support you for.
