

Please do not allow LightSquared's proposal for a cellular network that would interfere with GPS signals. I rely on GPS routinely on my boat in the waters of Washington State as well as for hiking in the backcountry of our mountains. There has to be a better solution than compromising our GPS signals.