

To FCC Commissioners Genachowski, Clyburn and McDowell:

Since Ronald Reagan killed the idea that media must be a public service dedicated to the common good, media has become increasingly a money machine for corporations. Corporations are bigger and allowed to broadcast the corporate message without FCC review with the result that we have dumbed down our citizens until they believe ideas that are ridiculous. "Keep government off my medicare!"

I protesting further allow further increase in the size of the 6 corporations now controlling the media.

Return to the conditions earlier applied to media. Return to the the Fairness Doctrine. Return to the review and approval of actual programming as a condition for license renewal.

Regards,

Claire Gregory

United States of America