

It is my understanding that if this were to be approved GPS would no longer be usable for boaters, hikers , hunters, small airplane pilots, etc. Several years ago LORAN was discontinued and forced us to use GPS at a great expense to many. Now you want to essentially remove GPS. How are we to navigate? You will damage an already fragile industry. I run a Marina and use GPS on a weekly basis and so do all of my customers. I understand the need for more bandwidth but there must be a better way that does not eliminate GPS. Please find another way!
