

As an avid boater on Lake Michigan, I use my GPS system for both safety and fun. Perhaps I could forgo a GPS for making fishing waypoints, but 40 years of experience in both sail and power boats tells me that unquestionably the safety of my boat is perhaps fatally compromised with out a GPS. I respectfully ask that the FCC protect the safety of boaters and all the millions using GPS technology for navigation and safety.