

Telephones and all public utilities should be owned and governed by the state at no profit - a non-profit government agency should be regulating and distributing public utilities. It is the way of the future for reasonable and fair prices that the people and businesses can more readily manage. Utility companies gouge people and small business. Allowing corporations, or individuals, to profit from basic public utilities such as telephone is a corruption of democracy.