

GPS is important for Navigation on water. An accurate signal is necessary while navigating in fog, dark, out of site of land and in unfamiliar waters for safety. It is important for land use for hikers and hunters as well as drivers in helping them arrive at their destinations safely. Anything that compromises the accuracy or interrupts a GPS signal could result in a fatality.