

firstly,I will admit i am a amateur radio operator lic# KG6LHF and i support wireless internet in every aspect of the word.I am supporting every effort to afford wireless internet to any and every individual who has a computer and has a wireless connection.I also am a firm believer in free internet and that all educational information that is on the internet should be made readily available to all who ask it.I also believe all computer technologies be made available to the general population for free as well.Wireless should also be made to be free.Enough of the big companies charging exorbitant amounts for a technology that was free to begin with.
