

The FCC needs to support more competition in the Communications Market Place because by it's practices ATT (nee: Southwestern Bell) has aggressively reversed Judge Harold Greene's 1984 ruling on the divestiture. As the communications market becomes ruled by an Oligopoly, there will be severly limited leverage for consumers and even more limited access to networks from rural areas.