

Thank goodness AT&T's deceptive "Mobilize Everything" PR and lobbying campaign to Monopolize Everything by pushing for the T-Mobile merger failed to win regulatory approval (11-65). Even though they approved the Qualcomm to AT&T spectrum transfer (11-18). Now the FCC needs to deny Verizon's deals with Big Cable by rejecting the SpectrumCo and Cox applications (12-4), approve a license transfer of spectrum from AT&T to T-Mobile (12-21) making T-Mobile more competitive and take steps to help advance broadband availability by enacting the National Broadband Plan (09-51), wireless aspects of the National Broadband Plan (09-157), while implementing changes to USF to fund broadband (10-90) and improving digital literacy (12-23). The FCC must also do everything it can to protect/promote competition and the open Internet (09-191), Broadband Framework Service Title II (10-127), and Broadband Industry Practices (07-52).
