

Now that the United Nations Declaration of Internet Human Rights has been released can we please have real Network Neutrality for wire line and wireless service. Broadband and mobile broadband must be treated as an advanced telecommunications service (just as dial-up is telecommunications) and be subject to common carrier Network Neutrality rules of nondiscrimination. Data caps by wire-line and wireless providers must be applied equally or not be instituted at all. I urge Congress to pass Net Neutrality legislation and for the FCC to do all it can to protect the Open Internet. Support the UN Declaration of Internet Human Rights.
