

Sen. Kohl Stands Up to Verizon

Sen. Herb Kohl just sent a forceful letter to the Federal Communications Commission and the Justice Department about Verizon's proposed deal with big cable.

"I believe these transactions present serious competition concerns which should be examined closely by your agencies," Sen. Kohl wrote.

As we continue to push Congress to investigate this competition-killing deal — which could make access to the high-speed Internet even more out of reach for millions — it's important to note Sen. Kohl's stand in support of Internet users nationwide.

If more members of Congress speak out public interest groups can succeed in getting regulators to kill these competition killing deals between big cable and Verizon Wireless.
