

To FCC Commissioners Genachowski, Clyburn and McDowell:

Considering how corrupt large media corporations have proven themselves to be recently, for example the UK, does it really seem like a good idea to lift a ban preventing them from acquiring a monopoly? People constantly complain about the media being biased, and if you lift this ban, there will be little stopping the few diverse opinions in existence from collapsing into one. Bla Bla Bla I have a research paper to write. So to get to the point, I am a voter, I oppose lifting this ban, I really hate the idea of anyone, let alone Murdoch dictating what media I am able to watch.

Regards,

Nicholas Bender

United States of America