

To FCC Commissioners Genachowski, Clyburn and McDowell:

A single corporate entity overseeing all forms of news mediums will result in the eventual consolidations of the varieties of each type into; one newspaper, one news channel, one radio station, etc. Afterall, what else can compete with such a corporate beast or what the dictionary definition names a monopoly.

My major concern is of a sure−decline in jobs over the next 100 years. Please allow competing news organizations to be protected under FCC regulations; don't allow anyone in this country to be a bully with money and harm good, decent, and never more hard working Americans than during these difficult economical times−−protect future jobs!
