

Dear FCC;

Granting a waiver for an industry that chooses to ignore accessibility needs of people with disabilities tells me that exclusion is an excepted culture of this highly technological country in the world. That does not make it right. Do it correctly the first time during the development stage of any new advances and include accessibility options. Do not make it an after thought. Please do not grant the waiver nor extension for telecommunications. Why must the blind community be kept waiting and continually excluded? Please do not allow this waiver.
