

The FCC must reform broadcast retransmission consent rules. It is outrageous that consumers are not able to get a refund when TV channels are lost in retransmission consent fights but when the channels come back amid new negotiations their bill increases. They can't get a refund when they lose TV channels but they get a price increase when the channels lost return. Also the Verizon SpectrumCo license transfer & JOE need more scrutiny and the DOJ and FCC need to actively ensure Comcast NBC are complying with their merger conditions.
