

We have too many monopolies as it is, and corporations are starting to almost run the country.