

Verizon Wireless and the nation's largest cable companies including Comcast and Time Warner have inked a deal to come together and sell each other's products and services. i am against this because it seems like a form of monopoly