

I am horrified to read what verizon and comcast are doing to the public. Don't they make enough over charging customers for terrible services anyway? Now they are working together. That spells disaster. They will implode because they both think they are alpha and will not want to work together. Good luck with your terrible endeavors. I guarantee everyone will stop using both of your services!