

I do not agree with this proposed merger. Most communication companies are large enough, or too large already. There is no real true consumer concern here. On that note, why do I have to write you to endeavor to convince you to oppose this merger. You are by statute to look out for consumer interests. This behemoth that is being unfair to current employees is not in the consumer interest! Do you believe it is in the consumers' interest. And I am not referring to a consumer as a stock market participant. This may improve their respective stocks--momentarily--however, in the realm of communication and employment . . . this is not consumer concern!
