

We believe that requiring competition is the better way to go and will allow more people to be able to afford the service.